PITTSBURGH IS BASEBALL MAD

LEADERS SEE COL. THOMPSON AS G. O. P. CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR

By C. W. HOWARD.
Special Correspondent for the Review-Tribune.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—It is increasingly evident in political circles here that a strong sentiment is crystallizing throughout Ohio in favor of Col. Carmel Thompson of Cleveland, as the Republican standard bearer in the approaching gubernatorial campaign.

For a time little attention was paid to Thompson talk, but in recent days this situation has changed almost entirely, until now practically every discussion among the men "in the know" hinges on the question of probable reaction throughout the state should the Colonel be induced to go before the primary.

Men who are intimately associated with Col. Thompson—in close touch with him at all times, and by virtue of their association in a position to speak more or less authoritatively—are responsible for the "boom" which is rapidly becoming apparent here, even to those not closely aligned with Republican leaders.

It is understood that Col. Thompson doesn't want to succeed Gen. Leonard Wood as governor of the Philippines, and it is reliably stated that should President Coolidge tender this portfolio to him he would feel compelled to decline it.

He Would Like To Be Governor. Col. Thompson, naturally, is in hearty sympathy with President Coolidge's policies, but his friends point out that even a two year tenure of office as governor-general of the Philippines would completely efface him as a potential gubernatorial candidate in Ohio.

Those who are close to Col. Thompson say he would like to be governor of his own state. That, it is declared, is his most cherished wish.

Col. Thompson always has been actively engaged in every cause which had for its aim the public good in Ohio, and has spent many years of his life laboring for the betterment of

Hotels Are Crowded and Scalpers Busy On Eve of World Series

New York Yankees are 6 to 5 Favorite to Win Classic in Odds Quoted by Gambling Element Today, Although Home Rooters Predict Pirates Will Win.

JUDGE KENESAW M. LANDIS, CZAR OF GAME, AND SPORT LUMINARIES ARRIVE

Waite Hoyt, Huggins Choice, and Ray Kremer, Bush's Great Right Hand, or Vic Aldridge Will be Rival Moundsmen in Opening Diamond Battle.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 4.—With Babe Ruth and his slugging ball club in town, swinging bats in menacing fashion in practice at Forbes field, hotels crowding up with visitors from nearby cities and ticket speculators operating on all sides, the bustling city of Pittsburgh was as excited today over the impending world series, which opens tomorrow, as Chicago was on the eve of the Tunney-Dempsey fight.

"Pittsburgh will take those Yanks," was the confident view of the home town rooters.

Odds quoted by the gambling element for the series in the National league partisans come to scratch with heavier financial support in the next 24 hours, the Yankees will rule even stronger favorites when they take the field tomorrow.

Every train into Pittsburgh today brought more visitors eager to see the annual baseball classic. Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, the silver-haired commissioner of baseball, is here; so are scores of big league players, an army of sports writers and the usual run of sports luminaries.

Hotel rooms are unavailable, even at $15 a day. Guests are glad to sleep in hallways of the hotels, and most rooms quarter from two to six persons.

Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Club and Donie Bush, the Pirates' leader, both expressed themselves as confident of victory. Huggins indicated he would use Waite Hoyt as his pitcher in the opening game and Bush said he would start either Ray Kremer, his great right hander, or Vic Aldridge.

Bush gave the impression that he would send out on to the field tomorrow the same lineup that won the pennant. This would mean that Kiki Cuyler, his great outfielder and a star of the 1925 world series, will sit on the bench and that Clyde Barnhart will hold down the left field position.

There is considerable feeling in Pittsburgh over the Cuyler matter. Many Pittsburgh fans think Bush should play Cuyler. But Bush seems to be adamant. He has been "off" this sensational performer since he was forced to fine him $50 for failing to slide to second in a game nearly two months ago.

Expect Waners to Star.

The fans, however, are looking to the spectacular Waner brothers, Paul and Lloyd, to more than hold up the outfield strength of the Pirates. They think, in fact, that the Waners will hit as hard in this series as will Ruth and the other New York line run hitters, Lou Gehrig.

No series in baseball history has brought into the limelight heavier hitting clubs than the Pirates and the Yanks and great will be the disappointment if the fences of Forbes field and the Yankee stadium are not wrecked by heavy cannonading. It is

"FAIR AND COOL" OPENER FORECAST

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—"Fair and moderately cool" weather was forecast today for the opening game of the world series here tomorrow. Ideal weather will continue through Thursday, the local weather bureau predicted.

Crisp air and clear skies greeted the Pirates and Yankees today as they appeared for their practice workouts, curtailed by rain yesterday.

A later weather bulletin forecast increasing cloudiness and rising temperature for tomorrow, but no rain.

BLAST WRECKS CANDY PLANT

That is the Place.

HODGE, CALIF., Oct. 2.

THIS is written at Hodge, Calif., on the so-called Mojave desert, sixty miles back from the Pacific ocean, two thousand feet above it. This writer has bought five thousand acres here, but does not advise you to invest. Some day every foot of this desert will be green, but it is not a place for quick money-making, no place for the man that cannot bring plenty of money with him.

Will Hays, movie moderator and king, has asked this writer to get him a thousand acres or so here to keep and forget. Paul Shoup, of the Southern Pacific, will be asked to oblige. Some day Hays will be pleasantly reminded of his purchase, but it is not for the little buyer or the man anxious to make a living now without working "too hard."

IT is a land of great delight. After you have brought in your well, started your forty horse-power electric pump throwing into your reservoir 100,000 gallons of beautiful water every hour, to see vigorous young alfalfa protected in its youth by a cover crop of tall sedan grass, covering acres that were barren desert and sage-brush one year ago, makes it worth while to invest money that you probably never will recover.

THERE ought to be ten thousand little houses for retired school teachers, firemen, policemen, clergymen and other deserving people scattered over 50,000 acres about here, surrounded by a million chickens and turkeys. Riding your horse in any direction over these soft desert flats and hills you meet nothing to remind you of mankind. Jack rabbits as fleet and almost as big as small deer bound ahead of you over the sagebrush and cactus and lurking coyotes start in pursuit and thank you, perhaps, for rousing the rabbits. Desert turkeys, as big as a milk pail, draw in their heavy heads as you pass (coyotes turn them over, tear off the under shell, eat the meat; ants clean the bones). The shells make good bird houses.

THIS is a place for men with money or real workmen. At the Los Angeles fair recently, the blue ribbon for the best alfalfa grown anywhere was won by a place named, When the war ended, the two brothers took land here as homesteaders and under the soldier's land act they cleared their land, dug their wells, built a 300,000 gallon reservoir, installed their pump, all with their own hands, sleeping at first under a lean-to, working eight hours a day for other men to live on their own account. And they get the blue ribbon for the finest alfalfa in the country. This is a good place for men willing to work like that, but they are not numerous.

THE wonderful place to see is 60 miles west of here—Los Angeles. There is the place to go, taking money with you for investment. Harnessing the Colorado river, now a certainty, thanks to Hiram Johnson, Herbert Hoover and President Coolidge, will double Los Angeles values within a few years. And with abundant, cheap power, Los Angeles, now sixth manufacturing city in the country, with six thousand industries, will rise rapidly to supremacy. Able business men, Julius Rosenwald, of Sears-Roebuck; Firestone, the tire man; the Goodyear and other big concerns, including the powerful Henry Ford, are building huge Los Angeles plants. Labor is abundant, rents and living are cheap and there is no coal problem, because you do not need coal. The man establishing a plant here is wise on his own account, farsighted and a benefactor to labor.

H. G. WELLS is useful because he is not afraid to let his imagination work, and write down what it tells him. The average man is afraid to

TWO MEN HURT IN OUTRAGE AT PITTSTON, PA.

Six Structures Adjoining Factory Badly Damaged.

HOMES ROCKED

Thirty Sticks of Dynamite Used in Explosion.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 4.—Dynamite placed in the stock room of the Pittston plant of the Wilkes-Barre Malt Candy company early today wrecked the structure, injuring two men and damaging six adjoining structures.

William Belski, a watchman, suffered injuries about the head when he was thrown against a boiler by the blast. William Smelski was lacerated by flying glass. Residents in nearby homes were thrown from their beds, but suffered mostly from shock.

Police estimated that at least 30 sticks of dynamite were placed in the building. No reason for the outrage could be given.

The plant is the property of Vito Blanca and his son, Joseph, both of Kingston. An investigation is under way.

SCHOOL HEAD ROTARY GUEST

F. P. Geiger Pays Tribute to McGuffey Brothers.

Tribute was paid the McGuffey brothers, authors of the famous McGuffey readers, by Franklin P. Geiger, superintendent of school at New Philadelphia, formerly of East Liverpool, in an address before members of the Rotary club at their luncheon in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. today.

His subject was "Back to McGuffey." He was introduced by J. Donald Thompson, chairman of the meeting. The singing was led by Dr. Colin Kinney. Announcement was made that Harry Watkinson would be chairman of next week's meeting, with Dr. W. A. Hobbs, who toured the Holy Lands last spring, will be the speaker.

Mr. Geiger, who was one of the charter members of the local Rotary club and a former member of the board of directors before removing from the city, briefly reviewed the famous McGuffey readers, which are still in use in many places. He also recited many of the poems printed in the readers.

More copies of the McGuffey readers have been published over a longer period of years than any other reader, he said.

Mexican Malcontents and Calles Men Clash

Border Cities Claim Serrano and Gomez, Presidential Aspirants, Accused of Launching Revolt Against Candidacy of Gen. Obregon, Have Disappeared.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The military mutiny in Mexico City reported today in diplomatic circles here. Although the Mexican embassy stated that it had not yet been heard of, the Mexican revolution had spread to the state of Vera Cruz, which is reported to have been cut off from Mexico City, embassy officials admitted that Vera Cruz is loyal to General Gomez, one of the reported rebel leaders, and that he is in hiding there. They also inclined to credit the report that Vera Cruz is now in his hands.

From behind the veil of obscurity which hung today over events in Mexico, reports were received that fighting had broken out between malcontents and federal troops, but that the government forces held the upper hand everywhere.

Advices from border cities said that three companies of rebels had been scattered today in diplomatic circles here. Other advices added that Gen. Francisco Serrano and Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, Mexican presidential candidates, who are accused of launching the mutiny and revolt against the presidential candidacy of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, have disappeared.

An unconfirmed report was received at the Mexico border that Gen. Serrano had been either captured or executed.

Mexico City Surprised.

President Calles and Gen. Obregon are both in Mexico City.

Dispatches from Mexico City quoted the Calles government as saying it is in full control of the situation everywhere. They admitted, however, that the revolutionary trouble spread from the capital to Torreón, state of Coahuila, and Vera Cruz. Rebel detachments were defeated at both places by loyal troops.

The rebellion, which began with a mutiny of 500 soldiers in the Mexico City barracks, took the Mexican capital entirely by surprise.

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 4.—Serious fighting between Mexican mutineers and loyal troops, and acts of depredation by the rebellious troops are reported in dispatches received here.

The rebels are reported to have sacked the town of Texcoco and also to have held up an express train from Vera Cruz and robbed the passengers. A dispatch from Torreón states that fifteen soldiers of the sixteenth cavalry have been killed in fighting there, and that twenty-nine have been wounded, including Colonel Ibarra and two loyal captains.

Anti-Obregon Demonstration.

NOGALES, Arizona, Oct. 4.—General Joaquin Amaro, Mexican secretary of war, at the head of four thousand loyal troops, is personally conducting a campaign against General Ignacio Alameda, former chief of staff of the Mexico City garrison, and fighting is imminent, according to reports reaching the border here today.

General Alameda is accused of having led the mutiny which resulted in three regiments of garrison troops taking the field against the government in an anti-Obregon demonstration.

General Alvaro Obregon, former president of Mexico and avowed candidate for re-election in 1928, was reported safe in the Mexican capital. The whereabouts of General Francisco Serrano and General Arnulfo Gomez, candidates opposed to the Obregon movement, were not known, reports said.

They told Common Pleas Judge Ewing yesterday that they had never really liked each other but had remained together for the sake of their children. The children have been trying to reconcile the aged couple for weeks.

TRUMAN CAIN GETS JAIL TERM

East Liverpool Man Also Fined $100 for Larceny.

Changing his plea of not guilty to that of guilty, Truman Cain, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail by Judge W. F. Lones in common pleas court, Lisbon, yesterday, upon an indictment charging petty larceny.

Cain, who was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, was arrested by East Liverpool police after he is alleged to have stolen a traveling bag, containing lady's wearing apparel from the lobby of the Thompson House.

Cain was instructed by Sheriff Wright to "go home" and walked from the court house to county jail without a guard. He has been in jail since his arrest about six weeks ago.

CORUBIA FILES APPEAL CLAIM

Petition in Error is Filed in Court of Appeals.

Through his counsel, Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool, Alfonso Corubia, of Wellsville, filed $500 and costs by Mayor W. L. Fogo of Wellsville, July 2, last, has appealed from the decision of Judge W. F. Lones, who upheld the decision of the lower court.

In 1907, "that war does not pay, ruins even the winners, and would lead next time to government confiscation of capital." The kings ruled; they did not have war if they did not want war. With finance ruling and not wanting war, the deadly gas war may be postponed indefinitely.

MEANWHILE, the little private wars, developed by the big war and bootlegging, thrives and constantly improves its methods. Six bandits held up the Los Angeles Merchants National Bank Saturday. Five men carried each a shotgun, the sixth stood in the doorway and called attention to a compact little machine gun, of which he handled the trigger finger.

Customs just before Saturday closing were lined up against the wall. Bank employees were ordered to lie flat on the floor inside the wire cage. They all obeyed except R. C. Elliott, manager of the bank. A little slow to obey, he was knocked senseless with the butt end of a shotgun.

THE six collected the cash and drove away in their automobile, also stolen. If Mr. Wells or anybody can find a way to discourage these little wars of which finance and business are the victims, finance and business will be much obliged.

NIGHT CLASSES ARE PROPOSED

P. T. A. Sentiment
Sought on Home Economics Course.

Plans for the proposed establishment of night class at the high school here in home economics, for the instruction of mothers and girls, were briefly discussed by Superintendent S. E. Daw at last night's meeting of the MacDonald Parent-Teacher association in the Ninth street building.

The night class plans are purely in a tentative state, according to Superintendent Daw, and sentiment of the MacDonald Parent-Teacher association will be sought prior to the next meeting of the organization next month.

The class would be open to those other than high school students and would provide instruction in cooking, sewing, interior decorating, diets, and similar courses.

Home economics in the high school is being taught by Miss Helen Yeger. No definite action was taken by the association on the suggestion.

Superintendent Daw also announced arrangements for the five-number high school lecture course for the coming winter. The course will include three musical numbers and two lectures, one of them bringing Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, pastor of the Congregational church, of Brooklyn and president of the Federal Council of Churches, to Wellsville.

Mrs. A. B. Murdock, a member of the program committee, was in charge of last night's program, which included the following talks:

"Purpose of the Primary"—Miss Isabel Anderson.

"Are the Primaries a Failure? If so, Why?"—Miss Mabel Hickman.

"Can a Parent be an Interested Parent and Not Vote?"—Mrs. L. E. Lee.

Musical selections were given by the boys' glee club, consisting of 18 members.

Refreshments were served during the social hour at the close of the program.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, October 24.

Being "Too Tired" Doesn't Pay.

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually is a sign of something wrong. Watch the kidneys. A very able physician said, "When they are affected, life is in danger." If elimination is too frequent, or too scanty and too burning, take FOLEY PILLS diuretic. W. K. Holland, Hartington, Texas, says: "I bet that 90 per cent of sufferers from kidney irregularities never take anything until it is too late, whereas FOLEY PILLS diuretic would be a God-send to them." Staggering Traffic Toll

At least eight deaths and probably a score of injured represented Ohio's traffic toll over the week-end, a check-up today revealed. One man was injured and three persons escaped harm by jumping a minute before a freight train wrecked their stalled car on a crossing in the East Liverpool district, where six crashes were reported.

This is additional evidence of the increase in automobile accidents, the staggering toll of which shows 114,879 dead and 3,500,000 injured in the United States in the five-year period ending January 1.

According to a nation wide survey, motor casualties are increasing at the rate of 2,000 a year. In the 1926, the peak period, 15,302 were killed and 749,060 injured.

Of the pedestrians killed, 7,000 were children of school age, who lost their lives while playing in or crossing the streets.

And most of the accidents were attributed to carelessness on the part of motorists and pedestrians.

The lesson in this appalling toll is the importance of using the brain for its intended purpose by both the motorist and the pedestrian.

The Fatal Gun

A tragic case occurring in New York the other day points an old moral with appalling emphasis.

A little girl, asleep in her bedroom, had her head nearly blown off by a shotgun. It looked like murder. A suspect was arrested, and circumstantial evidence began to tighten around him. Then suddenly the tragedy was explained.

The shotgun had been placed in that bedroom by the girl's parents, who thought they had reason to fear a revengeful attack. The gun was leaning against a chair. A little boy cousin, entering the room in the morning to waken the girl for school, accidentally tripped on the gun so that it fell against him and went off, killing the girl. He was so frightened that he ran away and concealed the story as long as he could.

What a place for a shotgun is a child's bedroom!

What is any kind of explosive weapon doing anywhere within reach of a child?

The Third Degree

It is not a cheaply sensational magazine, feeding on love for the morbid, which publishes the horrible revelations of the Third Degree by Oswald Garrison Villard. It is the conservative Harper's Monthly which gives space to his story of "Official Lawlessness."

That the police are constantly at fault in these matters is plain. It is by no law that tortures are used to extract confessions; and the confessions, like those so extracted since the beginning of the world, are notoriously un dependable, thus giving no excuse of use or expediency for the breaking of the law.

To cure this state of affairs Mr. Villard proposes what he calls a "revolutionary remedy":

"Let it be ordained that from this day forward all officials, whether of a municipality, a county, a state or of the federal government, shall themselves cease from all violation of the laws, state and national, and of the Constitution of the United States."

It is difficult for the type of mind represented by those who inflict the Third Degree to realize that the harm done society as a whole by these methods is greater than the good. It is high time some of those higher in authority began to realize it for them.

Arctic Paths

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer and lover of the "friendly Arctic," has a word to say in a current magazine about the shortness of the Arctic paths. He says that "over the Arctic, like a network of the future, lie the shortest, the safest and the easiest flying roads between many of the richest countries of the world."

Until we use them, he thinks, we shall be as badly off as the old sailors who had to go around Good Hope and the Horn before the Suez and Panama canals were dug. "But there are no canals to dig in the Arctic, only shackles of the mind to loosen and pry off."

It seems pretty often, to those who think about men and things and affairs, that prying off the shackles of the mind is apt to prove a harder, or at least a longer, task than digging canals or building levees or pyramids. But there are many flyers nowadays, and many explorers of the far north. Every one of them does his bit at prying loose those shackles.

One day, perhaps, we shall know the north as it is, no longer terrible, but beautiful, and useful withal in human service.

What is needed now to complete man's conquest of the air is weather-control.

Take a lesson from the beavers whom a New York forest ranger tried to discourage by breaking down their dam, burning up their building material and setting up a scarecrow to frighten them away. When he came back to see the result, the beavers had built the scarecrow into a new dam.

Another foreign lure for American motor tourists—in Europe, when an automobile collides with a pedestrian, the police arrest the pedestrian.

Aunt Eppie Hogg, The Fattest Woman in 3 Counties— By Fontaine Fox

THE VILLAGE HALF-WIT HAS ALMOST CONVINCED AUNT EPPIE THAT SHE OUGHT TO DISCARD HER CUMBERSOME UMBRELLA IN FAVOR OF A CARD TABLE.

(© Fontaine Fox, 1927, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—With two exceptions all rich men I have met in New York suffered some degree of poverty in youth and quite a number were treated meanly. One extremely rich man does not speak to his father to this day because of cruel treatment he received as a boy.

Poverty with the proper set of clay seems to mould fine character. The father of a silk-stockinged youth who went such a furious pace he wound up a flotsam of human wreckage in a Long Island sanitarium, said: "It was his misfortune not to have been born poor."

Successful New York men are less indulgent with sons than they are in smaller cities because of temptations here. A certain merchant prince gives his 16-year-old son an allowance of $10 a week and his 17-year-old daughter $100 a week. Perhaps the most notable example of parental denial was that accorded John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He is said to have been ordered to account for every penny of his comparatively meagre allowance. He had to skimp to buy his first watch and he became a first rate citizen.

Many millionaires sons have forsaken the notion of attaining their lives to the Vanity Fair idea of wealth in flanneled sermons, breeches or opera hats and are following their bent. Roger Kahn organized a jazz orchestra and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., became a reporter. Young John Hays Hammond is a mechanical genius.

There are other sons of the rich in humbler occupations. One is learning the department store business and starting as a shipping clerk. Another is now a sales clerk. Another is a type writer repair man with hope of putting over a mechanical idea he is developing.

Still another is making a fair income with a kennel of fine dogs in Westchester. And so it goes. Daughters of the rich, too, in innumerable instances are stepping out from the silk and limousine life and going it on their own.

The most touching tale of the week concerns a heroine of algerine race who arrived from Europe with neatly typewritten screeds for reporters, reading: "I have nothing to say. The true artist refuses to lead her emotional life before newspaper cameras or discuss her art with reporters who do not understand." It seems none of the reporters knocked at her cabin. A trained monkey that accompanied a duke took all the news honors.

For many years it was the neat delect of men and women desiring publicity to attempt it by inverse process. They refused interviews and thus hoped to be lauded buckitly-buckitly on to front pages. Reporters do not bother with them today. With rare exceptions and unless scandal is involved, every man and woman is happy to be interviewed. It is as intensely human as, well, chucking at a slip on a banana peel.

The ticket taker at a musical revue counted 30 men who came into the theatre on a recent rainy night hatless. Earl Carroll was the first Broadwayite to wander along the illuminated Alley in this fashion. Carroll, whose hair was thinning, was told this might stave off baldness. After two seasons he found baldness spread and he donned his lid again. Many go hatless at all hours, but there is an increasing number who lay aside hats only at night. It saves annoyance of checking in cafes and theatres.

A huge chain of restaurants has suffered a decided slump because its proprietor has tried to make patrons "go vegetarian." He abhors meats. Hungry people are not intensely interested in calories and vitamins. Like the old song they want what they want when they want it. And if they cannot get meat one place they will another. Incidentally the fact that there is far less profit in meat than in vegetables has nothing to do with the matter. Not much! Three of the oldest and heartiest citizens in our town, incidentally, eat meat three times a day and have all their lives.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Family Life in America.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—Apprehension and prophecies to the contrary, the family as an institution is in no imminent danger in America today, according to the reports and discussions at a notable gathering of social workers from all parts of the United States, Canada, and Europe now being held in Buffalo. Proposals for "temporary families," for a polygamous system of marriage, for the care of children by the state instead of by their parents, and radical plans for changing the family as the basic social unit will never get anywhere, it is declared.

"While the future may bring in America great changes in family relationships," said Prof. Paul H. Douglas, of the University of Chicago, "it is idle to believe that the family will disappear or that its importance will be greatly lessened. The gloomy prophecies of the dissolution of marriage err most in forgetting the powerful forces which operate toward the permanency of relations between men and women. They generally forget the simple fact that even in an age of birth control children are the normal consequence of marriage, and that the care of children—with all its difficulties—most parents will not willingly confide to any institution. It is well that this is so because the experiments of half a century of child placing have demonstrated that even the mediocre foster home is better for children than the scientifically managed institution."

The family, as an institution, is being tested as it has never before been tested from within, but it will survive, said Miss Gordon Hamilton, of the New York School of Social Work.

"We need not worry so much about family disintegration or reorganization," she added. "It is true that in the modern family, relatives less frequently play dominant roles and that children may play leads under conditions not always healthy. Family responsibility has not, however, turned to irresponsibility, and by and large there is more diffused social responsibility. It is not so much that relatives have stepped out of the family as that society has stepped in. Furthermore, as a vigorous organism, capable of slow but of almost unlimited adaptation, the family can not be excelled."

Biological Basis of the Family.

In a paper on the Biological Basis of the Family, Herbert S. Jennings, professor of zoology at Johns Hopkins university, traced the family life of living things from the simplest organisms up through insects, reptiles, birds, and animals to man, and gave it as his conclusion that the monogamous family, with life-long union of the mates, appears as the final term in a long evolutionary series. The polygamous system is sometimes defended on the ground that in it the stronger become the parents of the next generation, he said, the weaker being excluded, and it is argued that this results in a steady raising of the level of population. Whether this notion is sound or unsound, the tendencies of the human race appear distinctly against this condition and it seems certain to disappear.

Dorothy Canfield Fisher, the well known author, sees in the situation in America today the moral equivalent of the material situation faced by the Pilgrims.

"Here we stand facing a new world of human relationships," she said, "as new as America was to those English people three centuries ago. There it lies, waiting for us to shape it into the background of strong, healthy, and happy lives for our descendants. Why this uneasiness about what is before us? Why this absence of stout-hearted self-confidence that we can find our way about? There is before us as wonderful an opportunity as the world has ever seen for the exercise of the most deeply satisfying of all the instincts, the instinct to create."

Professor Douglas sees a serious aspect in the family situation in the hardships to which workclass mothers of two or more children are subject. He regards them as the overworked and exploited members of our society.

The Tyranny of Stoves and Washtubs.

We have been concerned during the last two decades with protection of women who work in stores and factories, he said, but because of their isolation we have tended to forget the lot of mothers in the home and to ignore the fact that kitchen stoves and washtubs are worse tyrants than the spindles and punch-presses of industry. The protection of these almost forgotten women the professor declared to be one of the most pressing problems of social reform, all the more baffling because since they are not employed for wages no direct attack can be made in the form of legislation concerning hours of work as is possible in the case of their gainfully employed sisters.

To free working-class mothers from this serfdom, Professor Douglas said, the wage system should be adapted in such a way as to provide mothers with additional sums according to the number of children they have. Allowances for children could be paid by the state from funds raised through taxation or they could be made a charge upon a group of employees and distributed in such a way as to prevent any discrimination against men with families.

In the opinion of this authority, industrialism has had a marked effect upon the family in that it has increased the age of marriage and has also increased divorce. The range of employment open to women makes it possible for wives to leave their husbands and to dissolve relationship that have become irksome. It is predicted in the family situation.

'CHANG' SCORES AT CERAMIC

Jungle Melo-drama Proves Wildest of Wild.

"Chang" is at the Ceramic. If you miss it you have only yourself to blame. "Chang" is the Wildest of the Wild and the Mightiest of the Mighty! Paramount can well cut another notch in its belt. Producers Merian C. Cooper and Earnest B. Schoedsack win places in the film hall of fame. It is not very often that a picture of the magnitude, entertainment value or true epic bigness of "Chang" comes along. Because of this, it towers head and shoulders above practically everything which has come to local screens during the past year.

"Chang" tells no ordinary tale. There is nothing at all stereotyped about "Chang." It is just one thrill after another, a whole series of them; one gasp after another, a whole parade of them.

If you should ask that "Chang" be described in one short, terse phrase, we'd call it a mighty melo-drama of the wild. A leopard leaps over a high wall into the hero's home; a tiger hurles itself right into the eye of the camera; four hundred ponderous, stampeding elephants attack a native village, leaving nothing but desolation and death in their wake and—that only starts to tell what "Chang" holds in store for moviegoers. It holds one punch after another and your attention is never allowed to wander.

When "Chang" was given a preview in New York, critics acclaimed and called it a road show picture.

marily for this reason that there is so much more divorce in the cities than in the rural districts. The increasing ability of women to stand economically upon their own feet has in turn made men more willing to break off marriage ties.

"Some of the effects which the entrance of women in industry on approximately the same terms as men may have on marriage are strikingly evidenced by the developments in Russia whence I have just returned," Professor Douglas said. "Divorce there is possible virtually at the will of either party, subject only to the provision that if either later becomes economically dependent, then the other is liable for support up to one-third of his or her income. A man, therefore, can not safely be divorced more than twice.

"It is too soon to appraise all the consequences of this extraordinary experiment, but there is general agreement that it has caused peasants and workmen to be more solicitous for the welfare of their wives lest they should lose them. Women have therefore gained not only greater freedom, but better treatment in Russia."

FOR years the stream of life in America's greatest metropolis has swirled and eddied around the desk of its chief magistrate. Here come shattered wrecks of humanity from every social strata . . . some to be made whole again . . . others so far gone in drink, drugs, and depravity that it is impossible to rekindle the desire to live a normal, healthy, happy life.

These youthful rebels striking blindly against restraint are emotion-starved children, childishly seeking happiness. Broken blossoms fluttering on the edge of life's fatal vortex. What can we do for them? How can we protect them from the skillfully baited lures that tempt them?

Judge McAdoo writes about a subject that is vital. Untainted by propaganda, this article, packed with life histories, shows us an accurate and undistorted picture of things as they are.

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

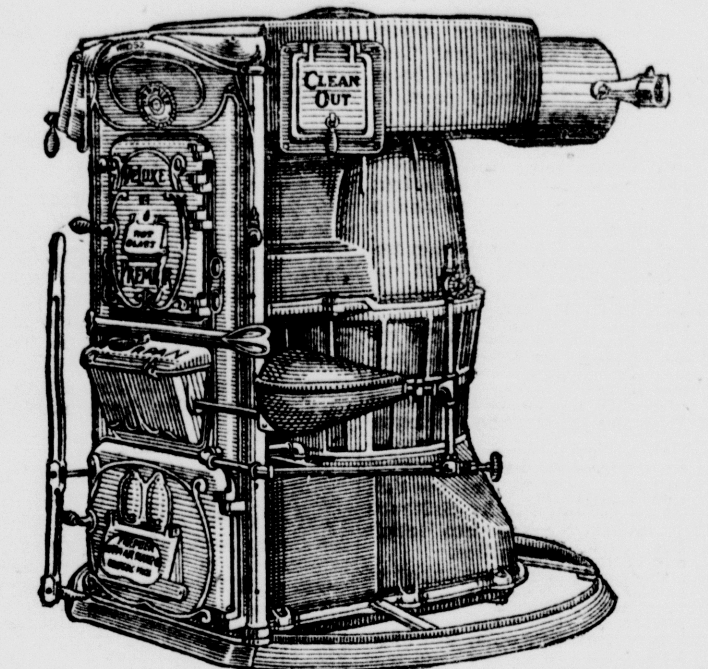

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Hurst's Gridders Brush Up On Tackling In Week's Workouts

Purdue Loses Fullback.
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 4.—Coach Jimmy Phelan had a serious problem on his hands in priming Purdue's football team for next Saturday's game with Harvard, due to the loss of Captain Chester Wilcox, mainstay of the backfield. Wilcox is now in St. Elizabeth hospital, where a piece of ankle bone fractured in last Saturday's game with Depauw was removed. Guthrie is to be drilled for Wilcox's place in the backfield.

Gophers Drill for Aggies.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—With the Oklahoma Aggies booked for next Saturday, Coach C. W. Spear

Dope Yankees for Opening Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The New York Yankees ruled seven to five favorites over the Pittsburgh Pirates to win the world series in the betting here today.

The Yanks were also favored to take the first game. Odds on the first meeting were quoted 11 to 10.

It was anticipated that this series will be the greatest from a betting standpoint ever staged. Money is pouring in steadily, with all wagers finding quick takers.

called his Gophers for a hard drill this afternoon. None of the squad was injured seriously in the game with North Dakota last Saturday. From present indications it looks as though Knoerr may be started in Saturday's game at fullback in place of Herb Joesting, all American player. The idea is that Knoerr is playing a whale of a game, and Coach Spears wants to save Joesting as much as possible.

Dissatisfied With Backfield.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 4.—Coach Whisman has made further cuts in the football squad of Michigan, leaving thirty-one men, who were to report today for intensive drill. The coach is dissatisfied with the showing of the backfield in last Saturday's game with the "Battling Bishops," and is devoting considerable attention to that section of his lineup. Special attention to the linemen is also being given in priming the Wolverines for their skirmish next Saturday with Michigan State.

Hiram in Good Condition.
HIRAM, O., Oct. 4.—Hiram is preparing for the game with Heidelberg next Saturday when the Hiram homecoming takes place. All men are reported in splendid condition, following the Akron game last week. Speed and power is being developed through offensive practice.

50 Badgers at Work.
MADISON, Wis., Oct. 4.—Numbering fifty, the Badger football squad

KNOWS HIS STUFF

COL. JAKE RUPPERT, the Jake who almost killed the Giants, has once more come through and is again riding the crest of baseball's fortunes.

Five times in his 12 years as owner of the New York Yankees has Col. Jake seen his boys grab off a pennant. This year, with the best team he has ever owned, the grabbing off was conducted in a most remarkable manner. From the day the American league teams started the 1927 race, the Yanks were in first place and have never been headed. Twice they were threatened, once when the Athletics roared and another time when the White Sox slipped up within a game of them, but the Yankees never faltered. And now world series meat is to be theirs—and Jake's.

Col. Jake deserves to taste of the good things of baseball. He was the man who made the American league a success in New York after decades of dominance in Gotham by the National league. Since baseball's dawn the New York Giants were the apple of New York's eye and when the Yankees appeared in 1903 it was to be in the role of stepson, badly treated, scorned and worse—ignored.

Col. Jake bought control of the Yankees in 1915. Unable to win with the late William C. "Wild Bill" Donovan as manager, Jake signed Miller J. Huggins, unsuccessful manager of the St. Louis Nationals, for six years, as team boss.

Col. Jake and his partner, Col. Tillinghast L. Huston, backed Huggins to the limit. The Yanks paid fine salaries. The Yankees won their first pennant in 1921. They won again in 1922. The youthful Yanks had grown too robust to act as customers of the Giants and continued to use the Polo grounds as their playing field, so the colonels decided to build a park of their own.

The Yankee stadium, the world's greatest ball park, was the result. The wisecracks scoffed at old Jake. The were to report for intensive drilling today to Coach Glen Thistlethwaite. Flaws brought to light in the opening game of the season with Cornell college of Iowa last Saturday were to be corrected, and the men were to be primed for the game next Saturday with Kansas. McKaskle and Zombemer, guards, are still on the list of injured as a result of the game with Cornell.

Prime for Chicago.
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 4.—Coach Pat Page lined up his Indiana university squad for an intensive drill today in preparation for the game with Chicago next Saturday. He used fully 30 men in the game with the Kentucky university men at Lexington last Saturday, and none was injured. Mistakes made in that game were rectified in yesterday's drill. Avoidance of them is to be further drilled into the gridders today. Page believes his men will give the Maroons a stiff battle.

Wildcats Set for Utah.
EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 4.—Coach Hanley's Wildcats, unscratched after their massacre of South Dakota's football team last Saturday, were to be drilled intensively today for the intersectional clash with Utah next Saturday. That game is expected to put the team on edge for its important conference game with Ohio State the following week. Walter Calderwood, sophomore halfback, is making a fight for a place on the first team.

Back to Fundamentals.
CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Maroon linemen and ends were to go back to fundamentals in today's drill while two squads of Coach Stagg's men were to be put to charging and blocking. A stiff scrimmage was on the books for this afternoon, following the defeat by Oklahoma last Saturday, in order to shape the first team up for its conflict with Indiana this week. Coach Stagg believes Burgess, flashy fullback, Krough, Blum and Kaldin will be in shape to play.

SCHOOL STILL SEEKS GAME FOR SATURDAY

Negotiations for Home Engagement Still Under Way; Salem Drops Another; East Palestine is Beaten.

While tackling in itself may not be the thing that decides the issue always, it is one of those numerous little factors that enter into a grid fray which, when all are combined, will send a team home victorious or a coach to bed muttering in his beard, and, as things stand at the present moment, is one department of the Blue and White defense that admittedly needs brushing up. As a result, tackling practice, according to announcement today by Coach Joe Hurst, is on the daily workout schedule of the local squad for the entire week.

This, probably, has been the most crack when the Jefferson countians noticeable fault in the local school's perform here on October 22. Smith's performance in its first two games, the squad has worked together like a machine of offense, as a general rule, and the boys have shown all kinds of fight and spirit and, in addition, the results of Hurst's instructions.

It is problematical whether Akron East would have scored that first touchdown Saturday had it not been for a penalty. It is entirely possible that the Blue would have held the Rubbermen for the required number of downs. But there is a big difference at a moment like that between a foot and a half from the goal line and a yard from the line.

Although negotiations have been under way constantly, local school authorities have not yet definitely scheduled a game for next Saturday.

Salem High, East Liverpool's opponent here November 5, lost its second consecutive game of the year last week to Youngstown South by a score of 7 to 0, at Salem, but the Springfield men showed considerable improvement over their form in the opening game. South scored in the opening quarter on an 18-yard run by Halfback Moss, but thereafter the two teams battled without further tallies.

Leetonia high, a home opponent of the Blue on November 19, won its opening game last Saturday from Salineville, 18 to 0. Leetonia, however, failed to uncover the power that was expected in its attack and, as a result, is expected to face more of a struggle with Columbiana next week. Leetonia has 10 lettermen back this year.

East Palestine, whom the Hurstmen will tackle a week from next Saturday, at East Palestine, was toppled by Sebring, 19 to 0. The Brown and White was fairly successful against the Sebring line but lacked the punch to reach their objective once they arrived in scoring territory.

Toronto may prove a tough nut to Zuppke Seeks Punters.

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 4.—Continuing his search for good punters, Coach Bob Zuppke called the Illinois football squad together today for a hard drill in drop kicking and in pass plays. The situation at end is becoming interesting, with Garland Grange competing with Jolley, Delmberg and Wolgast. Walker and Mills are continuing their bid for a halfback post as running mate for Jud Timm. The Illinois meet Butler here next Saturday.

Polish Up Offensive.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 4.—Polishing up of offensive plays was on the cards for Coach Burt Ingwersen's men this afternoon, in preparation for the game next Saturday with Ohio State. With the dire need for a punter of ability, the coach is spending most of his attention in developing a good kicker and brushing up the ends.

Will Try Out Passes.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—With the first western conference game of the season scheduled for next Saturday with Iowa, Ohio State gridders were to be primed today for a stiff contest.

Special attention is to be given Eby and Huston, counted on for ball carrying, and the team will be drilled in lateral and forward pass plays.

Hoyt And Kremer Rival Slabbers In Opening Game Of Series

YANK, PIRATE MOUND ACES WILL GET CALL

Forbes Field Sold Out for Annual Classic; Temporary Bleachers Boot Capacity; Babe Clouts a Homer.

By Ford C. Frick.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 4.—The Yankees, the Pirates and the October rains all blew into town simultaneously yesterday.

So did the double hotel rates—four dollar filet mignons and sixty-cent ham sandwiches.

All in all today it looks like quite a world series.

THEY'LL DO THE CHUCKING

RAY KREMER

WAITE HOYT

The only thing needed now is a ticket scandal and its looks as though that might be on the road. For, despite the fact that Barney Dreyfuss has announced that every ticket has been sold, there are plenty of little side street solicitors who are willing to provide them in numbers up to twenty if the prospective customer is willing to pay the overhead, about $15 for a $6 pasteboard. Thank you!

Room for 43,000.

And cheap at half the price, if you can believe young Mr. Sammy Dreyfuss, who, when asked the capacity of the park, replied, "forty-three thousand standing up." That Sammy points out proudly is about three thousand more than was able to squeeze in for the 1925 fracas and is a tribute to the financial perspicacity of Mr. Dreyfuss senior.

Barred by Judge Landis from erecting seats on the playing field, Barney immediately rented a vacant lot and installed temporary bleachers outside the left-field wall.

And speaking of left-field walls. There's one carpenter who will swear to the ability of Mr. Ruth to sock 'em outside the confines of Forbes field and Allegheny county if necessary. This gentleman in question was engaged yesterday in the frenzied business of finishing work on the new bleachers when Mr. Ruth came to bat, during the Yankees' short workout.

Babe Gets Range.

The Babe adjusted his sights and took a swing at one of Waite Hoyt's fast ones. The ball traveled like a bullet to left, clearing the wall and catching the unsuspecting workman square in the back. Twenty feet of good pine boards went hurtling over the embankment and into the river, and today there's one less carpenter on the job. But a moot question has been answered irrefutably. A baseball can be socked over that left-field wall, and how???

Today's schedule calls for a short practice session for both teams. That Hoyt and Kremer will be the opposing pitchers in the first game is almost certain. Miller Huggins has declared himself and Donnie Bush, while he will make no definite statement, opines that Kremer will be his selection. Which is as it should be. Hoyt and Kremer are the "aces" of the opposing club—and in this world series business a guy is a sucker who leads a fence with an ace up his sleeve.

Team Play Is Stressed In 1927 Football

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Strange as it may seem, the football season is getting under way this year without the eyes of the nation being focused upon any great individual stars. In fact a condition which existed last season in greater or less degree seems destined to continue in 1927, for although virtually every college eleven throughout the country has been in action at least once, one looks in vain for a Coy, a Brickley, or a Grange.

Whatever the reason may be, 1927 is apt to see greater stress on team rather than upon individual prowess. Of the few great players who attained national fame last year Jake Slagle of Princeton has been graduated; likewise Benny Friedman of Michigan. Oosterbaan still remains at Michigan and Flanagan of Notre Dame is also on deck, but Rockne has no "Four Horsemen," this year, or if he has he is keeping their presence a secret.

Perhaps the season will see the development of a new crop of stars but the trend which the game has taken seems to lead away from the exaltation of one or two players on a team and the submerging of the others. Of course, there will always be the player who will stand out because he excels in some individual ability such as drop-kicking, but now there are so many players eligible to carry or receive the ball that on the offense the brilliant individual star does not have the opportunity to shine that he did in the old days. "Red" Grange was just one of those exceptions that proves the general rule.

Lisbon Site Of Gun Club's Fall Shoot

The fall shoot of the Columbian County Gun club will be held next Friday, commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning on the grounds of the club on the plateau at the west end of Chestnut street, Lisbon. The program will include 150 singles, 16 yards $3; 6-25's or $1.50 on each 25, with handicap of 40, 30, 20 and 10.

Fifty target handicap, 16 to 23 yards, $1; 2-25's, $1.50 on each 25, with handicap 40, 30, 20 and 10.

Class shooting will also be an event of the meet. There will be a lunch stand on the grounds, and shells may also be procured on the grounds during the shoot.

Sports Done Brown

SAMMY MANDELL, holder of the world's lightweight title, has been timid about risking his title.

Sammy Mandell, westerner and proud of his home town of Rockford, Ill., says that eastern promoters want to play him for a sucker.

"They want me to meet Terris or one of the other good boys for $50,000," says Sammy. "And I know that's not the price a championship bout will draw."

Mandell rates Sid Terris and Billy Wallace as the two outstanding lightweights—and contenders for his title. And says he's willing to meet both.

"But the greatest fighter of all time, in my opinion, is, or rather was, Jack Dempsey," says Sammy. "I mean as far as fighting, fearin' no one, beatin' other fellows—down is concerned, I like clever boxing, but you have to admire the man who can tear in like a tiger and batter his opponent down."

"When Dempsey was himself he couldn't hit, either. It wasn't until he slowed up—until his legs went back on him—that he started taking them on the face and head."

"What killed off Dempsey, however, was that three-year layoff. No one can stay away from the ring that long and be himself when he gets back. I laid aside my gloves for three months on the advice of the doctors when I had trouble with my side, and I didn't know my left hand from my right when I started working again."

Mandell is now waiting for completion of arrangements for bouts in Kansas City and Chicago. He doesn't spend much time thinking about the ring these days, however, as he recently became the proud papa of a boy.

And Richard Samuel Mandell is just the type of son that any papa would have about. Mandell senior was taking the afternoon off to witness a football game when we met. Which brought out the fact that he once played high school basketball, himself, finally giving it up because of his ring activities.

Mandell has unusually small hands—for even a small fighter.

"That doesn't make any difference, though," says Sammy, "if you get them in there."

Mandell's last defense of the lightweight title was a couple of months or so ago against Phil McGraw, in Detroit, but the champ has had plenty of overweight and no decision bouts.

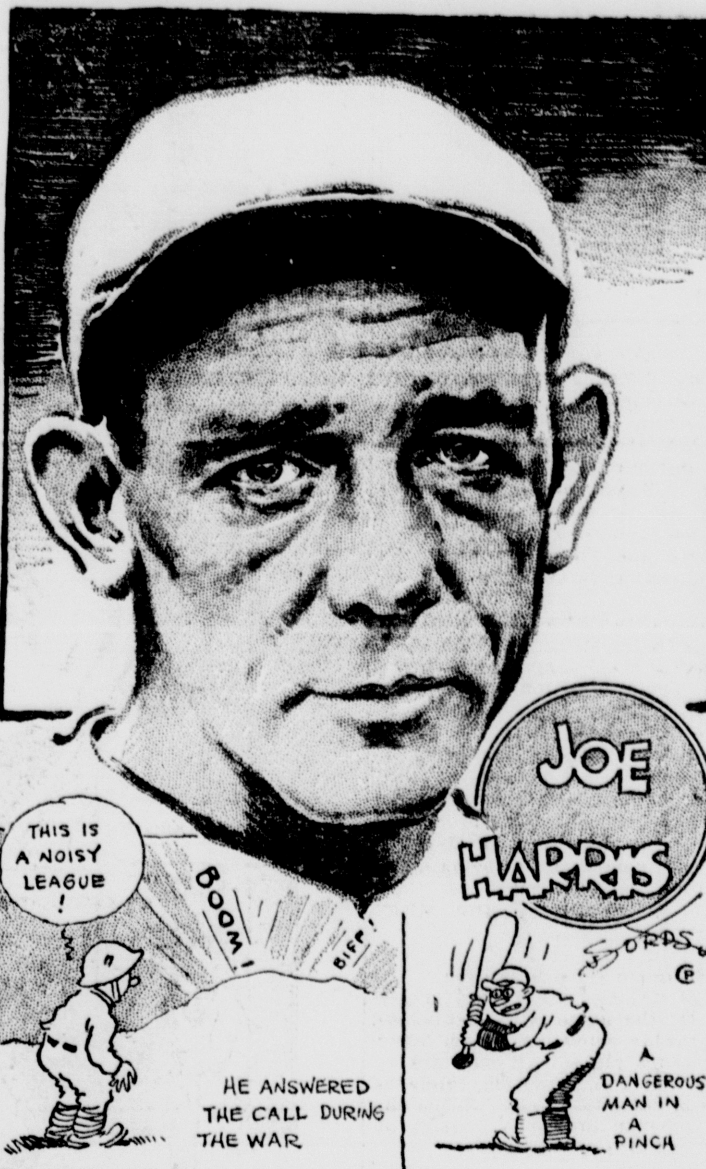

Sammy laughs at reports that he planned to forsake the lightweight ranks and become a welterweight. He appears to be holding his weight well, and points out that there is more interest in the lightweight division—more good fellows to meet.

AT TRENTON, N. J.—Vinc Dundee, Baltimore, and Joe Reno, Trenton, draw, 10 rounds.

Sylvan Bag, Baltimore, knocked out Jimmie Carroll, Jersey City, in third round.

AT HARRISBURG—Johnny Hayes, Philadelphia, defeated Ruby Stein, New York, eight rounds.

SWINGS POTENT BAT

WHEN it comes to passing out bouquets to the worthy members of the Pittsburgh Pirates, don't overlook Joe Harris, the heavy hitting first baseman of the Snaky City team. Harris' work has given a decided punch to the Pirate infield.

Already a heavy hitter, Harris is especially dangerous in a pinch. The tension of high pressure play never seems to bother him. The appearance of Joe at the plate when a hit means a run is enough to send the shivers down any opposing pitcher's back.

This has been one of the most successful seasons of Harris' career, a career that began in Bay City, Mich. In 1913 and was interrupted almost disastrously during the World war. After playing two seasons with Bay City, he went to Chattanooga, where he was purchased by Cleveland before the 1917 season. He spent 1918 in the service and was thrown from a truck in the Argonne during heavy shell fire and suffered, among other things, a deep gash which extended from his left eye diagonally across his cheek. It was thought he would never play again. But Harris fooled everyone and in 1919 found him back with the Cleveland club.

Becoming dissatisfied with the Indians he jumped organized ball and played in the coal leagues of Pennsylvania in 1920 and 1921. Upon application he was reinstated and played with the Boston Americans from 1922 to 1925, when he was traded to Washington. Donnie Bush took him over with the Pirates this year.

Harris spent a great part of his time in the outfield, but first base was his first love and that is where the Pirates need him.

GIVES TOLEDO PENNANT

BASEBALL fans are being treated to the pleasing spectacle of Casey Stengel, the old Giant hero, leading Toledo's Mud Hens, fresh from their first American association pennant, in the little world series against Buffalo.

After starting a slump that had all the earmarks of a nose dive such as that recently taken by the Chicago Cubs, Stengel righted his Mud Hens and now the northern Ohio town is fondling its very first pennant. The day the Hens won Toledo went wild—and no wonder.

For better than a month before the season closed the Hens were riding high and dry in first place. Then something happened and before long Toledo was in second. But Stengel is a fighter. He was not to be denied his first pennant and he came back only as Casey can. How well his efforts were appreciated is shown by his getting a contract to lead the Hens next year.

For a time the race in the association resembled the grand scramble of the National in the last days of the big league races. Toledo had to beat off Milwaukee up to the last day of the race and Kansas City was hovering near.

Stengel has been leading the Hens for the last two years and his teams have been humdingers. It remained for him to be the first to treat the fans to their first flag since entering the American association just 26 years ago.

Chester Club To Hold Meet

Business affairs of the Chester Superior Cords baseball club of the City Industrial league will be cleared up at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Chester city hall building, Fourth street.

Virgil Hasson, club secretary, has requested that all players attend the session and also asks that uniforms be turned in.

FANS AT FEVER HEAT ON EVE OF FLAG DUEL

Players of Both Clubs Itching to Get Started; Pirates to Work This Morning; Yanks This Afternoon.

By Les Conklin.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—Sixty-seven visitors ill from the effects of their first Pittsburgh stogie, nine others creaking with rheumatism from a night spent on a park bench in the rain after a vain search for hotel rooms; eighteen amateur statisticians down with brain fever after frenzied hours of grinding out series "dope"; ninety-three grandmothers of Pittsburgh office boys reported in a critical condition; and three ticket speculators on the verge of collapse following the discovery that they could have realized $30 on pasteboards which they had just sold for $20.

These were a few of the casualties today as the permanent and temporary inhabitants of this baseball-crazed community gestured, jostled and talked one another into insensibility over the relative merits of the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Yankees, who cross bats here tomorrow in the first game of the world series.

The general excitement does not equal the hysteria of 1925, when the Pirates battered in the gates of Pimlico after many long and lean years of disappointment, nor does it approach the wild enthusiasm shown by supporters of the Washington Senators and St. Louis Cardinals when those teams brought home the bacon in 1924 and 1926, respectively. But interest in the series is within one or two degrees of fever heat.

swallow or snakebite cure to repair the damage.

Indications are that Kiki Cuyler will decorate the Pittsburgh bench. At a luncheon given to the Pirates by the chamber of commerce an official of the Pittsburgh club referred to Cuyler as "a good ball player who is having a bad year." As Cuyler is batting over .300 it doesn't take a cross word puzzle expert to figure out what that crack means.

Pittsburgh fans, fearful of Ruth and Gehrig, are not laying their last nickel on the Pirates, but nevertheless the financial depression here will be terrible if the Bucs lose. Baseball is dearer to the heart of the average Pennsylvanian than any other sport except ballot-stuffing and the fans are warring more than enough mazzuma to preserve the city's reputation as a red hot betting center.

Players Are Ready

The ball players themselves were itching to get out on Forbes field and throw the ball around. Rain kept the Pirates idle yesterday, and the Yankees got in only 30 minutes of practice. Today, however, the sun gave Jupiter Pluvius the bum's rush and indications were that both teams would be put through a lengthy workout.

The Yankees were to have had the field for practice this morning, but Donnie Bush, who is taking no chances with the elements, politely informed Mr. Huggins that the Pittsburgh practice would be held this morning and the New York workout this afternoon. The only exercise that the Pirates have had since the close of the National league season has consisted of wrist exercises—pitching nickels onto the center of the table.

Following today's workouts, the rival teams will be ready for the opening yelp of "play ball!" Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig, the siege guns of the Yankees, already have sighted the range on the right field fence in their limited batting practice here. A party of Sunday school teachers from Indiana, passing the fence yesterday, were hit by so many baseballs that they thought they had run into a wandering hailstorm from their native Hoosier state.

Build New Stands

To lessen New York's home run menace, the Pittsburgh club has constructed extra stands above and beyond the fence. This may prove slightly embarrassing to Ruth and Gehrig, but when they kiss the old apple it stays kissed, as the Broadway cave man remarked.

The practice is supposed to be secret, but what is happening is little of a secret when one sees baseballs sailing over the fence like flappers pouring out of a raided night club. It's a 1 to 2 shot that Babe and Lou are enjoying batting practice.

The interest of Pittsburgh fans centers in the doings of the Waner brothers, the most famous Pirates since the days of Captain Kidd and Honus Wagner. If big poison and little poison continue to belt the ball as they have been doing all season, the Yanks will need considerably more than a long

Start Night Line

The annual sport of standing in line all night to buy tickets will start this evening, and the various competitors in this marathon are in the pink of condition following several days of intensive training. The visiting fans have been standing in line at hotel desk after hotel desk, only to be informed that the only empty bed within a radius of ten miles is the Pennsylvania roadhead.

If the ball players in this series find anything under their pillows, it probably will be a stowaway tourist who has been unable to rent parking space for his weary bones.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Tony Canzoneri, featherweight championship contender, won the decision over Tommy Ryan, Buffalo, ten rounds.

Johnny Erickson, New York, knocked out Joe Maricello, Brooklyn, in ninth round of ten round bout.

Sally's Shoulders

BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN, MONEY LOVE" and "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL"

Chapter XXIII.

It seemed to Sally, as she looked at little Mabel with startled blue eyes, that she really had never seen her until this moment.

Perhaps it was because she was seeing her now through John Nye's eyes—but somehow she never had seemed so over-dressed, so highly rouged, so loud-colored, so—so vulgar before.

She stood in the doorway, swinging her head back and fro, rolling her eyes at John Nye, and talking to him as if she had known him all her life.

"You'll make room for me beside you, won't you, Ben? She asked him, looking at him with a look that said she was not to be trifled with.

"Of course I will," John answered good naturedly, and sprang up to place a chair for her beside his own.

The sudden movement seemed to bring Sally back to life. She had been frozen with surprise and a kind of dismay ever since the newly-married pair had burst open the door.

Now she jumped up and did all the things that she should have done three minutes before.

She kissed Mabel, smiled at Beau and told him to get some forks and napkins from the sideboard. She sent Ted Sloan into the kitchen to slice some more roast beef, and then she put an arm around Mabel and drew her out of the room.

"I know you want to come out into my room and put some powder on your nose, and so forth," she said to her, although Mabel's little nose was thickly covered with powder already.

"I want to talk to you for a second," she half-whispered to her as soon as they were in the narrow little hall that led to the bedrooms. "You and Beau have had something to drink, haven't you?"

Mabel giggled her shoulders impatiently. "Well, suppose we did?" she asked in a cross tone. "Who has a better right, I'd like to know?—If you can't celebrate your own wedding when are you supposed to celebrate?"

"I'm sure I don't know, but please don't do any more celebrating while Mr. Nye is here," Sally begged her. "Mabel wants her little supper to go

I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything, but to no purpose.

Finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best. Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

May be relieved by rational treatment—it can not be rubbed away.

know it. She knew, besides, that the only thing to do was to pass the whole affair off as naturally as possible. To act as if it were quite ordinary for a bride and groom to take three or four drinks too many on their nuptial day, and come bursting in on a supper-table, full of slang and boisterousness.

She never forgot that awful meal, and yet it was all confusion in her mind at the time. . . . The only clear thing to her was John Nye's dark handsome face across the table. His face, puzzled, amused, and yet curious, gently whenever he met her eyes.

At ten o'clock Mabel collapsed, either from excitement or drink. Sally put her to bed in the room that had belonged to Beau, and did her best to make Beau go to bed, too.

But, as Mabel said afterward, Beau was "wound up" for the evening and refused to budge. He stayed in the living-room that Sally had made attractive with flowers and lamplight, and had a long heart-to-heart talk with John Nye.

"Glad to have seen you," he said cheerfully to him as he finally rose to go to bed. "I'll come up and see you some day in your office, if you don't mind."

He laughed thickly. "Probably borrow a little money from you," he added. "I'm a great little borrower, I am. Never seem to have enough money to go 'round somehow—You know how it is—And I figure that there's no use having friends unless you can borrow from them every now and then." He would have gone on talking endlessly, but Sally linked her arm in his and carried him off with her.

"You're thick-tongued, old boy, and talking through your hat!" she said to him lightly. But she could have cried instead, she was so ashamed of him.

He stopped in the dining-room long enough to empty the glasses that neither she nor John Nye had touched, and then staggered on to his room, and so it happened that Beau and Mabel started their married life in the flat just as they had planned after all!

"I could just cry!" Mabel waited tragically, an hour later, after John Nye and Ted had gone, and she and Sally were alone in their old rooms.

"Oh, wasn't it terrible? Those two coming in pie-eyed the way they did! And did you ever hear anyone talk like Mabel before in your life?—Why, she talks like a street Arab!—Oh, what will John Nye think of us? And I did so want him to see us at our best, and instead of that—Words failed her and she gave a deep, long groan of utter despair."

"I wouldn't worry so much about it, dear," Sally said to her, doing her best to be comforting. "John Nye looks as if he had pretty good sense, and he probably realizes that Mabel's just a little smart-aleck, and that Beau isn't used to drink, and couldn't stand what he had on his wedding day."

"Decent people don't drink on their wedding day!" snapped her sister, and you know it. And so does John Nye! I could just howl, I tell you, when I think of what happened tonight!"

But it was Sally who cried!

All at once, she dropped down beside the old dresser, laid her head on the marble top, and sobbed as if her heart would break. The tears ran down on the old green-and-white mull dress, staining it. But she did not know or care.

"Well, I'm sure I don't know what YOU'RE crying about!" said Mabel, watching her, "anybody would think that it was you who had the case on Johnny Nye. Instead of me?—Why do you care what he thinks of us? He's nothing to you."

No answer from Sally.

"You weren't so wonderful, yourself, tonight," Mabel went on, complainingly, "you hardly said a word to Johnny, and you didn't even shake hands with him when he left. Just sat in your chair and mumbled something at him. What in the world was the matter with you?"

Sally said nothing in her defense. She couldn't tell Mabel that in some mysterious way, John Nye had become the biggest and most real fact in her life.

And that it was hard for her to speak to him, almost impossible for her to meet his eyes. How could she say anything? . . . and certainly impossible for her to shake hands with him as if he were some ordinary mortal man?

In charge. Choir rehearsals will be held Thursday night.

To Attend Meeting. Number of local church people plan to attend the meeting tonight in the First Baptist church when an address will be delivered by V. A. Schreiber of Canton in which he will urge support of Marshall bill.

RUSHING WORK ON NEW BRIDGE

Grading work by the Dravo Construction company of Pittsburgh, Pa., for approach to the new Weirton-Steubenville river bridge, is rapidly nearing completion.

Considerable work has been accomplished during the past several weeks on the grading and fill, which is necessary for the bridge approach, which will be improved with an 18-foot concrete roadway. Work commenced near the river's edge, has moved toward the West Virginia highway, and will connect with the highway near the start of the old Ferry road.

The course of the new approach will run parallel with the old Ferry road, but will take a more straightened course.

Officials of the Dravo Construction company report progress in the construction of the river piers for the new bridge, the foundation of three of the piers having been completed.

Work on the bridge is to be rushed and interested parties in the new company see the completion of the bridge by January 1, 1929.

WEIRTON YOUTH DENIED BOND

Joseph Warzynski, 19, of Weirton, held as a member of a gang which held up and robbed six occupants of an automobile in Washington county, Pa., was denied a release under habeas corpus proceedings instituted by his counsel yesterday at Washington. Warzynski charged that he had been "third degree" and held for three days at Burgettstown without benefit of counsel. Corporal John N. Carr and Private James Robinson, of the state police, denied his accusations, although Warzynski had black and blue marks on his throat and a lump on his head.

Corporal Carr said Warzynski told him he got the hurts while changing a flat tire. Miss Wilda Barre, of Burgettstown, in the machine held up and robbed, identified Warzynski as one of the bandits. Warzynski's brother, Walter, 21, and William Jesky, 19, of Ambridge, Pa., are held in connection with the case.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

This is a simple remedy that makes blackheads go as if by magic. Get two ounces of Calomel powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub briskly over the affected parts, and in two minutes, you will find every blackhead dissolved away entirely.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 8401 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. OAKLAND CARS ARE IN DEMAND

Pontiac, Too, Hits High Mark in Sales.

Judged by the manner in which Oakland-Pontiac dealers in all sections of the country are ordering cars in excess of their quotas, the fall selling season gives every indication of being the best in the history of the Oakland Motor Car company, according to W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales.

"Considering the volume of business we have in sight," says Tracy, "I believe it is a pretty fair indication that practically all of the new model cars are out and the public has no further uncertainty about making its choice. Our reports from district managers and field representatives and orders from dealers have caused us to boost our September and October production schedules."

"Our production for August was the largest we have ever had for that month and topped last year's production for this month and October will likewise be the largest September and October output we have ever had."

"In fact, September will be our second best month's production during 1927, being topped only by the May production, when 24,058 cars were manufactured. The September production calls for 22,197 Oakland and Pontiac cars."

"The total for the two months of September and October this year will top the figures of the same two months last year by approximately 12,000 cars—the gain being quite evenly divided between the two months."
